Guggenheim Foundation Names 2019 Fellows

Guggenheim fellow Dara Friedman's Mother Drum, 2016.

The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation announced that it will award fellowships to 168 scholars, fellowships to a diverse group of 168 scholars, artists, and writers, including Dora Budor, Dara Friedman, Colin Gee, Guillermo Gómez-Peña, Jane Hammond, Guadalupe Maravilla, Catherine Opie, and Aki Sasamoto.

Appointed on the basis of prior achievement and exceptional promise, the fellows were chosen from a pool of almost three thousand applicants. They hail from twenty-eight states, the District of Columbia, and two Canadian provinces and represent forty-nine scholarly disciplines and artistic fields and seventy-five different academic institutions.

“It’s exceptionally satisfying to name 168 new Guggenheim Fellows,” Edward Hirsch, president of the Foundation, said in a statement. “These artists and writers, scholars and scientists, represent the best of the best. Each year since 1925, the Guggenheim Foundation has bet everything on the individual, and we’re thrilled to continue to do so with this wonderfully talented and diverse group. It’s an honor to be able to support these individuals to do the work they were meant to do.”

Since its establishment in 1925, the foundation has granted more than $360 million in fellowships to over 18,000 individuals. This year marks the foundation’s ninety-fifth competition. The fellows in the Creative Arts and Humanities categories are as follows:
